

Project description:

It is one thing to make one landing page, but we would like you to think like a developer and create an application that makes MANY websites with no hands-on labour. The web app will generate landing pages for bootcamp students to temporarily display while they are creating their portfolio of work.

Requirements:

- User should be able to enter their name and a subtitle
- User should be able to input links for Github, LinkedIn, and Twitter
- Upload a custom background image using Unsplash API or choose a custom background colour
- Load a Google Font of their choice (possibly curated from a list of options)
- The user should be able to see a preview of their landing page
- Once finished, you should be able to 'copy' or 'save' html and css code that they can use to create the website
- Proper error handling. For example:
  - If a user types in a query that yields no result - they should be provided feedback (e.g. there were no items found)
  - Common error responses should be handled
  - API loading states

Stretch goals:

- There should also be the option to choose a pre-built "theme" that pairs colour themes with fonts for them (this information should be stored in a firebase database)
- There should be an opt-in sign up to save and edit your landing pages (reminder: if your app has user authentication it must always have a guest account that requires no sign in/sign up)

Deliverables:

- Project files up on GitHub
- Project up on GitHub pages or your own URL
- All requirements completed BEFORE any stretch goals have been attempted
